Whisman Speaks At Kiwanis Meeting

L. T. "Tommy" Whisman was program chairman and also speaker at the regular weekly meeting of the Hazard Kiwanis Club, Tuesday evening, July 6 at Don's Restaurant.

Using as his subject, "Kiwanis Laws and Regulations", Mr. Whisman explained the constitution and by-laws of Kiwanis International. Broadly speaking, he covered the subject of discipline, modes of elections, nominations, etc. In a general quiz, the speaker put his questions in the form of a true-false test, which made the program quite interesting.

The only visitor to the club was Chief-of-Police Sam "Bud" Luttrell, who was the guest of President George Pendleton.

Dr. A. P. Gullett, chairman of the Family and Teachers Annual Picnic, named Bruce Muncy to replace Frank Baker to this committee. Claude Isaacs had previously been named to the same committee.

A make-up meeting was held immediately following the regular dinner meeting, and the

Lost Man Found In Mountains

By Amanda Slusher

Recently, one of the greatest dramas of the time opened here in Bell County, Pine Mountain State Park, Pineville, June 26, with a large audience. The "Book of Job" is under the direction of Mr. Preston Slusher, resident of Pineville.

Last summer the "Book of Job" was presented in the amphitheatre of the Park until September and started a tour with the World's Fair that ended in Africa, just giving the Slushers time to enjoy the New Year holiday's at home.

Yesterday, an area man, Jim Mason, 60, was lost in the mountains for several hours. Mr. Mason's family became alarmed, so the Rescue Squad was called from Middlesboro. After a few hours' search, he was found, unharmed in the mountains above the Harmony School.

Hazard Football Will Start on Aug. 28

By Connie Elam

As the time for fall football practice is drawing near, the Hazard Bulldogs are looking forward to a successful 1965 season with their new head coach, Aster Sizemore, a graduate of Hazard High and V.P.I., who stepped up from the assistant position upon the resignation of Jack Carey, after the 1964 season.

Returning to their Alma Mater to assist their former teammate and classmate will be Fred Stidham, a graduate of Hazard High and Eastern Kentucky State College, and Newt Green, a graduate of Hazard High and V.P.I.

Last year the Bulldogs, E.K. M.C. Champs, established a 9-1 record in regular season play and defeated Everts in Fourth District play. However, in Regional competition, Hazard fell 14-13 to Highlands, eventual State Class AA Champions.

The new coaching staff has the "toughest schedule ever" with powers such as Louisville Flagg, Hopkinsville, Lexington Lafayette, Lexington Dunbar, Everts, Whitesburg, Belfrey, Jenkins, Fleming-Neon, and M. C. Napier. The Bulldogs will open the record book with Hopkinsville in the Recreation Bowl at Mt. Sterling.

Returning lettermen to challenge this agenda will be C. V. Cooper, III, O. J. Rowe, Keith Reynolds, Freddy Hogg, Gordon Benning, Bervin Collins, Houston Hogg, Jr., John Fitzpatrick, Will Frazier, David Baker, and Butch Morgan.

A few rookies in Hazard football will be Jim Rose, Larry Peavley, Larry Combs, and Joey Turner.

Reserved season tickets for the five home games can be purchased from Jimmy Baker for $6.

According to Coach Sizemore, practice will begin August 2.

C. V. Cooper, Jr., Secretary-Treasurer of Hazard Booster Club, reports that the Club is now in the process of raising money to send the Bulldogs and their coaches to football camp at Morehead State College, August 8-15. All contributions will be greatly appreciated.

Black Bass And Blue Gill Are Best Catches At Kentucky Lakes

The tailwaters below Wolf Dam and Kentucky Dam are excellent for trout, sauger, catfish, crappie and white bass and fishing in the lakes proper is generally fair to slow, according to the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources' mid-week fishing roundup. Following is a lake by lake summary.

Dale Hollow — Crappie best by still fishing minnows at 15 to 20 feet around treetops in early morning, late afternoon and at night. Black bass fair by casting deep runners and trolling. Bluegills fair on worms along deep banks. Temperature 82, clear and falling.

Herrington Lake — Fishing poor, some fair bluegill on hersewed worms along deep banks. Scattered catches of black bass on artificial worms along deep banks. Some white perch by still fishing crawfish. Temperature 80, clear and falling.

Lake Cumberland — Crap-

pie best by still fishing minnows at 20 to 30 feet around fallen trees and out from the gentle sloping banks. Black bass fair by casting medium and deep runners in early morning, late afternoon and at night. Below the dam — trout and sauger excellent on cheese, worms and spoons. Temperature 82, clear and falling.

Kentucky Lake — Bluegill best on worms. White bass fair by still fishing minnows and casting spinners. Below dam—catfish excellent on mussel meat, worms and cut bait. Crappie excellent on minnows and by casting do-jigs. White bass good by casting do-jigs and still fishing minnows. Temperature 83, clear and falling.

Dewey Lake — Fishing poor, temperature 84, clear and stable.

Rough River — Scattered catches of blacks by casting artificial worms. Bluegill fair on worms. Temperature 82, clear and stable.

Taylor and Stanwyck Star Together In Movie Starting Here Sunday

Not in yetars has any casting news out of Hollywood aroused the world-wide excitement elicited by William Castle's signing Robert Taylor and Barbara Stanwyck to co-star in his eerie suspense drama, "The Night Walker," Universal release opening Sunday at the Cinema Drive-In Theatre.

For two of filmdom's brightest stars it marked the first picture together in many years, and the third of their illustrious careers.

Around the world the press took the occasion to remind its readers that "two of the screen's most popular stars, Bob and Barbara were one of Hollywood's best-known couples until their 11-year marriage ended in divorce in 1951."

The fact that since 1954 Bob has been happily married to lovely German actress Ursula Thiess and that Barbara has never re-married inevitably aroused considerable conjecture as to how their past personal relationship would affect their professional re-union, and (2) how the present Mrs. Taylor felt about it.

By the time he was swamped with newspaper clippings from Boston to Buenos Aires, from Toledo to Tokyo, producer-director Castle, while gratified by the universal interest in his casting coup, decided it was high time to get things in their proper perspective.

His solution was, as one observer reported, "a surprising turn."

Story About Boy And His Journey Will Start Sunday At Family Theatre

On the banks of the Blue Nile, at the little river, side port of Namasagali, director Sandy Macdendrick was toiling beneath a sweltering equatorial sun. Five thousand miles he had come for this.

After months of planning, and in anger, he shackles him the cameras were about to turn self to Sammy. The next day, for the first time on his latest, the peddler is dead. Sammy large scale adventure story, "A Boy Ten Feet Tall," which opens Sunday at the Family Theatre. Based on the novel "Sammy Going South," by W. H. Canaway, this Paramount release stars Edward G. Robinson and co-stars Fergus McClelland, Constance Cummings, Harry H. Corbett and Paul Stassino.

The story is about ten-year-old Sammy Hartland (Fergus McClelland), a boy who makes an incredible journey from Suez in Egypt to Durban in South Africa—a trip of 5,000 miles. Sammy, alone in Suez after his parents are killed in a surprise air raid, remembers what his mother once told him. "If you are ever left alone Sammy, go south to your aunt Jane in Durban." Now, with Sammy in this unenviable position, he heeds his mother's advice, heads south, and his journey begins.

In the desert, tired and hungry, Sammy meets a peddler and agrees to trek with him to Luxor. On the way, an accident in the camp blinds the peddler.

"A Boy Ten Feet Tall" is a Seven Arts-Bryanston production. It was filmed, in color, on location in Africa's dense jungles. The producer on the film was Hal Mason.

ROMANTIC ADVENTURE!

"Moon-Spinners"

At Grand Vue

For his first suspense-mystery, "The Moon-Spinners," Walt Disney mixes the talents of Hayley Mills, romance, and a spine-tingling story, with the opulence of ancient Crete, and comes up with one of his best efforts to date in the field of family entertainment.

It can be seen at the Grand Vue Drive-In Sunday through Tuesday.

Based on Mary Stewart's recent best-seller, the lavish production is as colorful as it is exciting, and is certain to be one of the strongest attractions in studio history. Besides Miss Mills, the outstanding cast includes Eli Wallach, Pola Negri, Irene Papas, Joan Greenwood and Peter McEnery. Historic Crete, with its azure waters, ancient customs and mountain vistas, provides an opulent setting for Walt's first whodunit.

The tale is about an English girl who accompanies her musicologist aunt to an out-of-the-way village in Crete, falls for a handsome young stranger, and shares a series of hair-raising adventures with him in his search for valuable jewelry and the thief who made the youth suspect by stealing it.

Hayley has been showered with almost every important award including a special Oscar, a British Academy Award, a Berlin Film Festival Silver Bear and a Hollywood Foreign Press Golden Globe during her meteoric career. Now that she has added glamor to her vivacious personality, there should be no stopping her.

Reading Occupies Much Leisure Time

In this modern day of going to movies, watching television, listening to the radio, and stereo, going to night clubs, throwing parties, making home movies, people are still resorting to the old pastime and pleasure of reading.

According to Mrs. Glen Reynolds, librarian at Bobby Davis Memorial Library, the reading spaper, and "The Kentucky Labor News" are also available. Two new services available to adults are the lending of phonograph records and the lending of copies of famous paintings. The record service, which is now almost a year old, consists of mostly classical music, such as Mozart and Bach. However, there are some folk and blues records, and recordings of well-known sonnets and plays. On hand now are only five paintings; among them "Girl With The Watering Can" by Renoir. Requests can be made for paintings, which can be sent from Frankfurt.

Since the opening of the Bobby Davis Memorial Library in 1946, 19472 people have registered. At the present time, there are approximately 1,000 active users.

The adults are reading not just fiction, but also non-fiction, such as books on religion and philosophy. It has been said that the religion section of the Bobby Davis Library is better than that of several well-known theological seminaries; and that the library as a whole is comparable to the University of Kentucky Library. The fact that Mrs. Reynolds is most proud of is that more college students are doing research there. Available at the library is newly developed section on gardening; a separate mystery section, all the best-sellers, such as Jesse Stuart's "Save Every Lamb" and top magazines, such as "Look", "The Reporter", and "The Saturday Review". The Library subscribes to two newspapers, "The Hazard Herald" and "The National Ob-

Instant Nature

What features of the natural world as we know it now and as our ancestors in this country knew it two hundred years ago are we obliged to preserve for our children, and their children of the 21st century?

This question has long been pondered by various private organizations dedicated to the preservation and conservation of America's natural resources.

Now, as a reflection of the growing concern of the general public, the United States government has begun to show a similar concern.

Tribute To A Trooper

Some folks in a rural section of the county feel menaced by unreasonable and apparently dangerous actions of a neighbor, and they call the police for protection.

A young State Trooper is dispatched to help a deputy investigate. As they approach the house, a shotgun roars in the night and the trooper falls to the ground, mortally wounded.

A man accused of the shooting is arrested and confined. His case will be disposed of, one way or another, by the courts. After that, life as it was before the incident will continue in its old slow pace, and things will be about the same as they always were.

Well, not quite the same. There is a widow now, and her children. And another policeman with wounds to heal. For these, as a result of one brief, violent moment, things can never be the same again.

Of course the neighbors responded as they should have by calling the police to deal with a threatening disturbance. And Trooper Delano Powell understood the risks inherent in his job, and remained willing to take them, as his duty.

That much ought to explain it well enough for us to forget it, but, somehow, it isn't that simple. The death of a young man and all his lost promise is always hard to accept, regardless of how simple the reasons for it seem.

Perhaps the thing that complicates our emotional response is that we remember he lost his life on behalf of others, on behalf of us, on behalf of the abstract notion of something called law, while earning $376 a month as a Kentucky State Trooper.

Perhaps, too, we are reminded how much we take men like Trooper Powell for granted, and being confronted with our own unconcern for men like him takes away some of our easy comfort.

This federal concern is vitally needed, because without some central regulation of our landscape, men interested in immediate profits from business threaten to alter the face of this whole continent to the extent that even trees and mountains and natural lakes and canyons will become as rare as the buffalo.

Americans have never been very careful about the way they harvested their natural resources. There was such an abundance here for the settlers that wastefulness became their trademark. They shot a flock of geese to get one for a meal. They killed herds of buffalo to get but the choicest of steaks for railroad crews. They obliterated whole regions of timberland in their quest for lumber, taking no interest in the future consequences of their action.

Americans have always "justified" this extravagance in the name of progress. Our argument has been that God put the minerals beneath the earth for man to dig, and to use for his advancement.

But his advancement toward what? Technically, we've been advancing by leaps and bounds for a century and a half, since the Industrial Revolution gave us the means with which to advance. And what have we advanced to?

A willingness to fill the Grand Canyon with water, in order to manufacture more electricity.

A willingness to pollute every stream we have in order to get rid of factory waste so that the factory can continue to manufacture more waste.

A willingness to slash and gouge mountains that took millions of years to build in order to get coal for furnaces that make things with which to continue the "advancement."

What kind of people are we, to prefer more electricity to the sublime beauty of the Grand Canyon, or to the ancient grandeur of the Appalachian hills?

How arrogant we have become. How we take God for granted, assuming that we are somehow exempt from the laws of nature. How confidently we imagine that all this is going to last forever.

We're going to get surprised one of these days. And if we don't then our children certainly are, when they look around and see no trees, no hills, no rivers, no flowers.

Well, on second thought, maybe they will see those things after all. Why shucks, we've already got plastic flowers on the market. Who is going to doubt modern technology's ability to turn out plastic trees, and concrete mountains and rivers made of chemicals, once there is a clear-cut demand for these commodities?

Maybe the future won't be so bad after all, once they invent instant nature.

SPEAKING OF AREA-DEPRESSORS

APPALACHIA

By John Smedley

Here in Appalachia, An Eastern Kentucky town, Something adventurous always happens So it pays to be around.

Once a depressed area, But lo! not now. We've been fed by relief Until even the kittens can meow.

We've been given First Aid, State Aid, Lemon Aid, Foreign Aid and Father's Aid Till we're able to do the twist. So now LBJ can take us off The Depression Area List.

Here in Eastern Kentucky You can have the climate you want. We once lived from the profits of corn likker But of course now we don't.

We have our labor troubles And other troubles too. Once you think they've quieted down They will spring up anew.

Some of our counties are wet And some of them are dry. You can hear of cussin' and shootin' scrapes Where some men haul off and die.

Around our mines where there's picketing You can hear guns poppin', And men droppin' But the house wife just keeps moppin'.

So here in Adventurous Appalachia We're easy to please, and happy to be alive And regardless of the Lemon Aid and Father's Aid, We will manage to survive.

HERALD FEATURE

The Cycle Of Progress

History may not necessarily repeat itself, but it does seem that human affairs turn in mighty similar cycles.

A week after Highway Commissioner Henry Ward's speech in Hazard, and two weeks after this City's expansion beyond Lothair, we happened across these articles in the Hazard Herald files of 1925.

January 16

PLAN TO COMPLETE PERRY ROAD BY 1927
E. N. Todd, State Highway Engineer, will be the guest of the Chamber of Commerce of Hazard, Kentucky on Friday night, January 16th. Mr. Todd will examine the road situation in Perry County thoroughly and it is thought that the much needed work will be pushed. Plans are being made to have the Ky-Va. road and bridge surfaced and completed within two years.

If it is true that Perry County has $500,000 for roads and that Breathitt County has no funds of its own as reported and if the State will let no more contracts until 1925 then let Perry County, with Federal Aid, build to the Knott County line and see to it that Knott County builds their few miles necessary to make a completed road from Hazard to Whitesburg this year," said Frank Dunn, Secretary of the Lexington Automobile Club to the News Editor of the Hazard Herald this week.

Letcher County, which is already connected with Virginia roads, has followed this plan and Scott County has also let her road contracts without State aid. There are 37 miles of the Ky-Va. road, a part of the new Appalachian Highway extending from Chicago to the Gulf and this is a Federal Aid road.

Ten miles of this road is already drained and graded, according to Judge J. A. Smith, County Judge of Perry County. The remaining 6 and one-half miles between Hazard and the Knott County line will probably be let for grading and draining this month, leaving only twenty miles to be contracted for to the North of Hazard to the Breathitt County line.

Under the original plan for Federal Aid Roads, according to Mr. Dunn, the State was to equal the amount of money raised by the county and the Federal Government was to give as much as the County and State combined.

STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER HERE
Speaks At Chamber Of Commerce Banquet, Promises Ky-Va. Road

E. N. Todd, State Highway Engineer of the Kentucky spoke before 80 business men of Hazard at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet here last Friday night.

Mr. Todd stated that the Highway Commission realized that there would be much bigger revenues when Eastern Kentucky roads were completed. He also stated that there would be more revenue this year than had been at first expected and that the Commission would soon be able to let the six miles contract in Perry County known as the Carrs Fork Road.

WOODLAND PARK INCORPORATED IN CITY

The balance of the new residence section of Hazard, Woodland Park, was incorporated in the city limits at the Tuesday Council meeting, and an ordinance passed authorizing the building of concrete streets in the Park.

About ten acres were taken in, making a total of 25 acres, comprising around 100 building lots.

The streets will be paved in the Spring, which will mean a mile more of concrete streets for Hazard. The Baker Brothers will grade the streets at once, and will lay the concrete sidewalks. Water and lights and telephone wires are already installed.

Idea For Beautification

Local garden clubs and other organizations interested in the appearance of Hazard might want to consider the possibility of doing something imaginative with the tremendous road-cut at Walkertown through which the new road to Combs runs.

Not many towns are entered through a slash of earth of that size. Once you set your mind to working, all kinds of striking and beautiful ways to decorate those high walls occur:

Both sides could be covered with some kind of vine that blooms illustriously at a certain season of the year. A statue commemorating Ky. pioneers, or Perry County pioneers, could be erected on the peak of one of the slopes. Perhaps the walls could be terraced, like a Japanese garden, with a variety of blooming flowers and shrubs.

The possibilities are limited only by the imagination. So why shouldn't someone at least begin to imagine, with a view toward giving Hazard, at some time in the future, one of the most distinctive and original and beautiful entrances in Kentucky?

Big Creek Man Maintains Old Fashioned Kitchen

By ARLIS FIELDS

Have you ever wondered where those old-fashioned kitchen utensils, the ones like your grandmother used to have in her kitchen, have gone?

There is one place in Perry County where all of these old type priceless utensils can be seen.

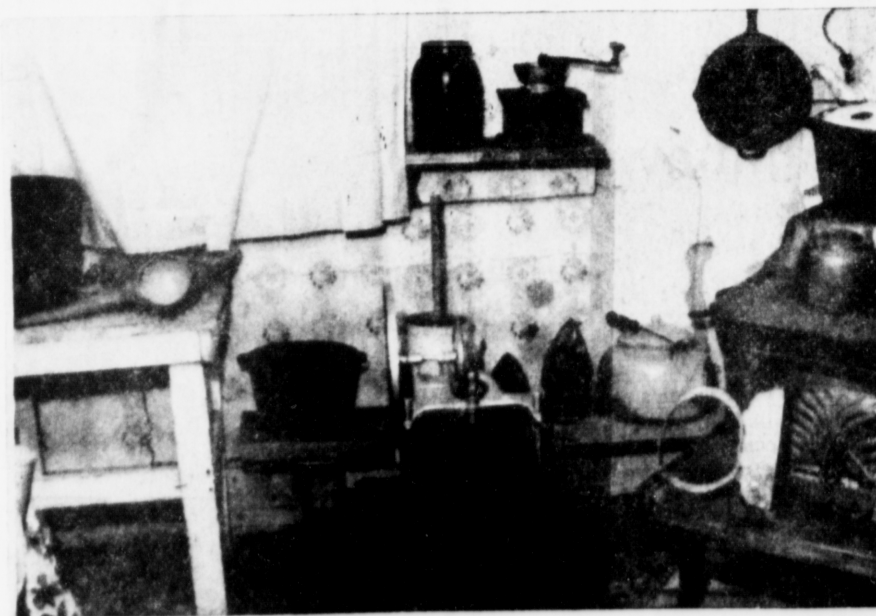

Charles Baker, better known to his friends as "Charlie", has a complete old time kitchen setup in a building near his home on Big Creek, near Avawam. Baker collects those old time relics that have all but disappeared from the modern day scene.

In the middle of the well laid out room is a large old time stove and according to its owner, "that's the best baking stove I ever seen. I have been offered a hundred dollars for the stove," Baker added.

Around the room you can see all types of kitchen utilities from those old fashioned, extra thick dishes, to meat grinders and apple peelers.

One of Baker's pet pieces of the old utensils is an old fashioned milk churn. For those that don't rightly remember just what a milk churn is, it is the home-made method for making butter.

The particular type that Baker is so fond of has a wheel on top that is attached to a spinner which

The outlay of the Baker Kitchen can be seen in these photos: in the top picture, in the center, is the milk churn that Baker is so fond of. Note the old type stove iron at right in the same picture. At left is an old fashioned utility table.

In the picture at lower left Baker is shown with a broom that he made himself. Note in upper right corner the picture of the old meat grinder and the hand type milk churn at lower left.

In the lower right photo is a common scene among old time families. "The big white coffee pot on top of the big wood stove." Note the heavy iron cooking utensils on top of stove. Baker praises the stove by saying, "That's the best baking stove I've ever seen."

ARA Representative Discusses Programs At PCDA Meeting Monday Night

Paul Keen - Perry County Extension Agent

Bill Davis, with Area Redevelopment Administration will discuss small business loans and other important programs in industrial development at the regular Perry C.D.A. Meeting set to be held at the Kentucky Power Company, Monday, June 14, at 7:30 p.m.

Floyd P. Hall, President of Perry County Development Association stated that the Community Facilities, Agriculture and Conservation, Health Education and Welfare and Industrial Committees will make reports. The Recreation committee will report on plans and actions taken on a recreational center for Perry County.

"Laying-By" Corn:

Don't Plow Your Corn To Death! Many a fine Saturday afternoon has been wasted by farm hands with steel beams working overtime in waist-high corn. What that "lay-by" operation did was to cut down the yield.

Plow your corn as shallow as possible to get the weeds and as few times as possible to keep it clean.

Take a look at the chart above. The roots of a stalk of corn at 8 weeks of age are 4 feet to each side and 4 feet down. The deep roots are reaching for moisture, but the feeder roots to each side are after the fertilizer you put into the soil at planting time. These feeder roots grow right up to the surface at a distance of 2½ feet on each side of the stalk. This means they overlap in middles. Every feeder root that is cut greatly reduces your chances for top yield.

Picture what a deep furrow would do to them even if you plowed eighteen inches from row. Don't plow your corn to death.

In plowing corn, plow as shallow as possible and cultivate only to keep corn clean. Put more corn in your crib this fall.

Mulches said to Conserve Moisture
Many shallow-rooted plants such as rhododendron, azaleas, and laurel suffer during the hot dry weather of summer and early fall.

This annual setback can be overcome by the use of moisture conserving mulches. It's important to use mulches correctly.

If you have ground covers such as ivy planted under shrubs, merely work a dressing of mulch down into them. Mulches can also simplify the fertilization of shallow-rooted shrubs. Rather than disturb the roots by cultivating the fertilizer into the ground, apply the fertilizer to the plants mixed with mulch.

Fertilizer may be added to mulching materials such as well-rotted sawdust, compost, shredded pine bark, peat, or pine needles. Add about one coffee can full of cottonseed meal to a wheelbarrow full of mulching material and mix thoroughly. This mixture can then be spread two or three inches deep over the shrub root zones.

Liberally water the plants after adding the mulch-fertilizer mixture. This soaks the nutrients deep into the root areas of the soil and helps to settle the mulch. You can prevent the new mulch from washing away if you apply the water with a fine spray or a soaker hose.

Poison Ivy is a Summer Hazard

Persons who are out-of-doors during the warmer parts of the year should recognize and avoid toxic or poison plants.

Poison ivy is one of our common toxic plants which can cause much discomfort as well as loss of sleep and work. The allergic reaction to poison ivy varies widely among individuals. Some are extremely allergic while others handle it with little or no reaction. It is wise in either case, to avoid contact with this three-leaf vine. Severe reaction can require hospitalization.

The poison ivy plant is typically three-leaved. It produces white berries and occurs most abundantly in rich, moist soil in waste areas, and along fence rows. If you should come in contact with it, wash the exposed skin with strong soap and water as soon as possible.

Get Rid of Wasps' Nests

About this time of year people begin to notice increased numbers of wasps about their homes. Many of these pests are building in a nearby doorway, and sooner or later someone will get stung.

It's difficult to discourage these insects from building. But persistent use of proper insecticides can do the job.

It's a good idea to fight wasps at night. They do not fly in the dark and will drop to the ground where they can be stepped on. Dislodge the nest with a pole and if possible, spray the area with a two percent chlordane spray, or dust with a five percent chlordane dust. Aerosol bombs containing two percent chlordane can be used.

MY EVENING PRAYER

If I have wounded any soul today,
If I have caused one foot to go astray,
If I have walked in my own wilful way—
Good Lord, forgive!

If I have uttered idle words or vain,
If I have turned aside from want or pain,
Lest I myself should suffer through the strain—
Good Lord, forgive!

If I have craved for joys that are not mine,
If I have let my wayward heart repine,
Dwelling on things of earth, not things divine—
Good Lord, forgive!

If I have been perverse, or hard, or cold,
If I have longed for shelter in Thy fold,
When Thou hast given me some part to hold—
Good Lord, forgive.

Forgive the sins I have confessed to Thee,
Forgive the secret sins I do not see,
That which I know not, Father, teach Thou me—
Help me to live.

Edward Keefe Elected President Of Kiwanis Club International

Edward C. Keefe, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma Association Executive was elected president of Kiwanis International today at the organization's Golden Anniversary Convention in New York City, according to George H. Pendleton, president of the Kiwanis Club of Hazard.

As head of Kiwanis International, which was founded in Detroit, Michigan, fifty years ago, Keefe will be official spokesman for some 270,000 Kiwanians in more than 5,300 clubs in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Western Europe, Japan, the Caribbean area, and the Philippines. He succeeds Miami, Florida businessman, Edward B. Moylan, Jr., who has held the presidency during the year immediately preceding.

Prior to becoming president of Kiwanis International, Keefe served one year as president-elect, one year as treasurer, and four years as a member of the International Board of Trustees. Currently, he is serving as chairman of the International Board's Committee on Golden Anniversary. He has been a Ki-wanian for 16 years.

Keefe is the Executive Vice-President of the Oklahoma Independent College foundation. He has served as Publicity Chairman for the Salvation Army and for the Black Beaver Council of the Boy Scouts of America. He has been a director of the American College Public Relations Association; he has served as chairman of the Grady County Chapter of the American Red Cross. In 1954 he was chairman of the State Governors Sports Day Committee, and he is currently a member of the executive committee of the Independent College Funds of America.

The president-designate has served as president of the Kiwanis Club of Oklahoma City, lieutenant governor and governor of the Texas-Oklahoma Kiwanis District, and a member of the Board's Executive Committee. He is also a former chairman of the Kiwanis International Committee on Boys and Girls Work, and Public and Business Affairs for the United States.

The Golden Anniversary Convention of Kiwanis International in New York City attracted over 20,000 Kiwanians and their families to famous Madison Square Garden. Convention highlights included: "Kiwanis International Day at the World's Fair," a slate of headline speakers including Edward B. Moylan, Jr., 1964-65 Kiwanis President; Senator George Murphy of California; Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, Pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church of New York City; W. P. Gullander, President of the National Association of Manufacturers; and the Honorable Jean Lesage, Prime Minister of the Province of Quebec. Delegates to the 50th Convention adopted resolutions upon which Kiwanis' service programs for 1965-66 will be based, honored the "best all-round Kiwanis clubs and districts for 1964," and developed new ideas in community service and club administration.

Lt. Governor and Mrs. Raymond Roberson, of the Hazard Kiwanis Club, along with the club's official delegates, Mr. and Mrs. Don A. Ward and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Holliday, attended the week-long convention.

The 1966 Kiwanis International Convention will be held in Portland, Oregon.

Johnson-Mosley Vows Exchanged; Mr. Allen Opens Dairy Bar

By Bernice T. Hiser

The Presbyterian Church, of Buckhorn, started a day camp for the children of the neighborhood last Monday with 20 members, a number that rose later to 25. The children of the day camp are going to the Lexington Bluegrass Airport, Wednesday, where they will see the airfield, the control tower from which planes are directed in the weather bureau, and an Electra jet airliner.

The Buckhorn Little League will go to Vicco for a double header Tuesday. The first game will start at 3:30; the younger boys will play first and then the older ones.

Leo Allen has opened his new dairy bar on Rt. 80, just out of Buckhorn.

The church is holding a series of Sunday evening lakeside services, to which all are invited.

Miss Loraine Johnson and Mr. Alec Mosely, both graduates of Buckhorn High, were united in marriage at the Presbyterian Church with Rev. Robert Undercuffler officiating, last Saturday afternoon. Mr. Mosely is a member of the U. S. Army. Mrs. Mosely has been teaching in the federally sponsored day school at Buckhorn. The couple plans to live in Frankfort.

Mr. Eldon Riley and daughter, Sadie R. Rutherford, entertained Mr. and Mrs. Crit Keen and their six married children and grandchildren with a picnic Sunday night.

Miss Judy Houch and friends report that the bookmobile they run up Squabble Creek each Tuesday and Thursday has 57 people with library cards.

David Jones, Jr., an art teacher in Perry County Schools, was married in June to Miss Winona Combs, of Combs. Mr. Jones is employed in Louisville this summer, while Mrs. Jones is a cashier at Newberry Store.

Herman Morris and family, of Ohio, have been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Morris.

Wilson E. Terry and the Hises visited in Omsley County, Thursday. Among old school friends we saw were Mrs. Nancy Gabbard Ellis and Mrs. Ruth Gabbard Aker, with her husband, Dr. J. R. Aker, from spending his vacation at home. Johnson, Thursday, of Perry County, and Rev. Mrs. Alva Amis, injured in a Jerry Combs, who is employed by Mrs. I. H. Gabbard. wreck recently, was a visitor ed in Ohio, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Combs.

Isn't it time you tried Old Fitz PRIME?

Why should you? Because OLD FITZ PRIME STRAIGHT is the most flavorful Bourbon ever bottled at mild 86.8 proof.

Big statement? Yes, but big flavor backs it up. This is prime sour mash Bourbon, slow-made on our 116-year-old family recipe, and naturally oak-ripened for eight Kentucky summers. It has achieved a perfection of taste and aroma which lesser whiskeys can never approach.

Mighty mild... mighty mellow! We suggest you try a bottle and it will all be clear to you.

Examining Trial Held For Slayer of Trooper

The examining trial of Dan Morris, 58, of Elkatawa in Breathitt County, accused of murder in the shotgun slaying of State Police Trooper Glenn Delano Powell on the night of July 8 near the Morris home, ended in Perry County Court this afternoon on a two fold note.

Acting upon the request of Jackson mortician, told the Commonwealth, Perry County Judge Babe C. Noplis denied the defendant bond. At the same time D. G. Boleyn, attorney for the defense, asked that the court grant Morris an interview with proper authorities to determine his present mental status.

Earlier reports show that Morris was released from the Eastern State Hospital at Lexington in 1962.

Morris, an ex-coal miner, allegedly shot Powell with a shotgun as the Trooper entered the yard of the Morris home to investigate a disturbance.

Testimony in the hearing revealed that Powell was shot from close range with the powerful weapon.

The hearing got under way on Friday afternoon and was carried over until today to get more witnesses on the stand.

The question of Perry County's jurisdiction in the case was brought before the court on Friday but that was cleared up when Breathitt County Deputy Sheriff and Coroner James A. Dalton and Frank Fletcher, a

Jaycees Adopt Resolution At Meeting June 30

The Hazard JC's have been a busy minded group of young men in the past few weeks. At the June 30 meeting the group adopted the resolution appearing in today's Herald.

July 7 the local civic club went on record as favoring the proposed road bond issue.

July 14 the 67 member strong unit went on record in favor of asking the Governor to remodel the pay scale of the Kentucky State Police.

Officers of the local club are: Hoover Haynes, President; Elbert Maggard, 1st Vice-President; Rommel Napier, 2nd Vice-President; Jerry Wells, Secretary; and Elmer Cornett, Treasurer.

These officers took office in May and will serve one year.

Serving on the Board of Directors for the local group are: Gene Moore, Aster Sizemore, Sam Luttrell, Bonnell Whitaker, Sonny Engle and Virgil Walton Napier.

Auto Stolen And Stripped Near Bridge At Glomawr

An automobile was stolen sometime last Wednesday night from near the bridge at Glomawr.

The 1955 model auto belonged to Tom Smith of Glomawr and was taken sometime between 10:30 p.m. Wednesday and 9 a.m. on Thursday.

Perry County Deputy Sheriff Carl Smith found the auto on the railroad track at Fourseam stripped of its transmission, radio, tires and other fixtures. The auto had been set on fire and according to Smith was a total loss.

NYC'ers ON THE JOB

The lower photo shows Hazard Fire Chief Lawrence "Shorty" Sizemore and his two new FD aids Johnny Couch, 16, and Donnie Engle, 16, both of Busy.

The very popular program has placed over 100 youths on the job in the various state, federal, local and city offices in the area.

According to Bob Rader, chairman of the Perry County Advisory Committee, the sponsoring group for the project, the goal is to have 200 young people on the job by the end of this week.

NYC Participants To Be Employed In State Offices

The heads of the various departments of the state government that have offices in Hazard have given local officials approval to use participants of the Neighborhood Youth Corps in state maintained offices and projects.

These state projects include the Highway Departments, State Parks, Forest Division, State Police and various offices in the area.

According to Percy Combs, helping in the Tax Commissioner's Office and Linda Moore er's Office and Linda Moore works in the County Attorney's Office.

The Appalachian Regional Hospital at Airport Gardens has the largest number employed with at least 20 youths on the job at the present time.

Four male participants are on duty as radio operators at the Hazard City Police Station and according to Chief Bud Luttrell everything is going smooth. On duty for the local Police are: Robert Gene Shepherd, 19, of Happy, Marvin Smith of Lotts Creek, Deard Mathews of Scuddy and Benny Pigman of Lothair.

The Hazard Fire Department also has four youths on duty as fire department aids. They are: Ronnie Smith and Claude Combs Jr. of Hazard, Johnny Couch, 16, of Busy and Donnie Engle, 16, of Busy.

All offices in the county court house have youngsters on duty at this time: In the Sheriff's Office Roger Brewer, 21, and Ann Whitaker, 17, are employed; Sandra Tackett, 18, works for the County Judge; Dora Scott is with Circuit Court Clerk Grace Strong; County Court Clerk Jessie Horn has Brenda Begley on duty; Marlene Pratt of Cornettsville is local employment office revealed that everything is going smooth as far as interviewing prospective participants for the program.

This is only a few of the youths that are employed. It would be impossible to list each one at this time. Combs made a strong appeal over the weekend to all civic clubs, churches, and the Chamber of Commerce to help in finding jobs for these young people.

The youths may be employed in any state, county, city or federal installation for 30 hours a week at the rate of $1.25 per hour.

Resolution Endorsed By Hazard Jaycees

WHEREAS,

The Court of Appeals has rendered a decision upholding a portion of the Constitution of the State of Kentucky, which states, in essence, that property shall be assessed at 100% of actual value for tax purposes, and said Court has instructed that assessments as of January 1, 1966 shall be based on a 100% actual value and,

WHEREAS,

Property in Perry County is presently assessed on an overall average of 25% of actual cash value, and property in the City of Hazard is assessed at an overall average of 60% and,

WHEREAS,

For the year of 1966, under the present tax rate, the increase in taxes would average 400% in Perry County and 80% in the City of Hazard, and,

WHEREAS,

We feel that the present tax rates were set on the basis of the present assessment.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED

That the Hazard Jaycees are, by a unanimous vote at its regular meeting of June 30, 1965, on record favoring a decline in the present tax rates to compensate, to a degree, for the upcoming raise in assessment, and,

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED,

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the Perry County Board of Education, Perry County Fiscal Court, Perry County Tax Commissioner, Hazard City Board of Education, Mayor of the City of Hazard, to be read to the Board of Commissioners at the next meeting, Governor Edward T. Breathitt, President Tom Gates of the Kentucky Jaycees, the Hazard Herald and WKIC.

Minor Damage Caused By Fire

A fire at the Hurst-Snyder Building on High Street in Hazard Saturday afternoon kept the Hazard Fire Department battling for four hours before the blaze was completely out.

According to Fire Chief Lawrence Sizemore the fire started from some electrical wiring that shorted out following the heavy rain on Saturday.

Sizemore said the fire started between the first floor and the basement.

Damage from the fire is expected to be minor, however, there was some smoke and water damage.

Letcher County Historical Society Dedicates Two Markers . . .

A large group of Letcher County Citizens gathered on Friday, July 16 at 5:30 P. M., near the site of the first Court House at the junction of Highways 119 and 15 to dedicate the first of two historic markers. Mrs. Zenneth Bentley, president of the Society, welcomed the group. Folk music for the occasion was furnished by Mr. Varon Campbell with his dulcimer and Miss Linda Ferguson vocalist.

Mr. Harry M. Caudill, who is a member of the Letcher County Historical Society and the Kentucky Historical Society was the speaker. He stated that no other section of Kentucky has had a more colorful past than Letcher County and stressed the importance of preserving the history of the county and its families for future generations. He related events of interest from Indian times to the present, paying a special honor to the men who were chosen as the first county officials and mentioning how these men, fast friends in the beginning were later bitterly divided by the issues of the Civil War, divisions between their families having continued up to the present time. He remarked on the long disagreement with the State of Virginia as to the boundary lines between the two states, a disagreement which brought State Militia into the area more than once before the lines were finally established as they now stand. He urged that those in the county who remember the taking out of the big timber, the opening of the coal fields and the building of the railroads, the building of the highways, the development of banks and businesses and the political life of the county write these stories now for preservation so that those who come after us may understand their heritage.

Since the first marker commemorates the naming of Letcher County, Mrs. Bentley asked the nearest living relatives of the first county judge, Nathaniel Collins to unveil the marker.

Mrs. Hattie Profit, a grand-daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Williams and Mrs. Albert Jones, great grand-daughter and Mr. Herman Hale, a great-grandson were the nearest living relatives. Other relatives asked to gather around the marker were Mrs. Mabel Kiser, Don Collins, Roy Crawford and Mrs. Helen Pace.

After unveiling the Letcher County marker the group moved on up Pine Mountain to the entrance to Little Shepherd Trail where a second marker commemorates the stories and novels of John Fox, Jr., the famous novelist who lived for some time in Letcher County and incorporated many of its people into his books. It was for one of his most famous books that Little Shepherd Trail was named. Those unveiling the marker were relatives of some of the main characters in his Trail of the Lone-some Pine, "Bad" John Wright and Red Fox (Dr. Taylor). Frank Wright, a grandson of Bad John, Mrs. T. G. Halcomb and Mrs. Denton

Huston, grand-daughters, and Benjamin Wright, Jr., son of Dr. B. F. Wright took part. Other relatives gathering around were Billy Wayne Wright and son, Cossie Quillen and son, Mrs. Goebel Adams, Mrs. Zenneth Bentley, Mr. and Mrs. Conley Webb and Zenneth Bentley who is a grand-nephew of Dr. Taylor.

Harry Caudill related a number of anecdotes about John Wright and others who lived in Letcher County and appeared in Fox's novels. He pointed out that the wealth of literary source material which Fox found here still exists and awaits the pen of yet other authors.

In closing the dedication ceremony Mrs. Bentley made this comment: "This marker is now entrusted to the care of this community, Letcher County, this region and to the people of Kentucky. May we all recognize the sacredness of this trust and never fail to conscientiously take care of this historic marker."

ANOTHER LOSS

Has happened into the ranks of our people that believed in what was right and wrong was wrong. Wade Brashear from up near Fugate passed also to that land of no return. Wade was a great fisherman, he believed in doing every thing right. He loved this area, he wanted it to stay just as I believe it should that was the way God intended for it to be, he wanted clear waters, green trees without man molesting them to the extent that it causes an ugly picture of the surrounding hill sides that he loved so well. Wade loved to fish as well as he loved the beauty of the mountains that he cherished so well. I often wonder what will happen when people such as Wade and others that stream of no return. I wonder who will fight the battles for clean waters and greener hillsides. To this bereaved family in your loss of a loved one, I know that I can offer for the readers of this column mine and their sympathy in this hour of the loss of a loved one. Wade was a great lover of the outdoors, he worked hard for whatever he wanted, he usually accomplished what ever he intended to improve our streams and forests. It is too bad that we don't have too many Wades left in our State. Wade was a great hunter, I know that he will find his way back to this place he has been chosen to go. Wade what I have decided and said there is no more sadness in that word. Wade is now in a better place than any body left on this earth. Wade is now in a better place than any body left on this earth. Wade is now in a better place than any body left on this earth.

I HAVE TALKED

With so many of you lately that you are on the verge of retiring, or just plain quitting work. Some of you are being forced to do so. Regardless of what it is, let me offer you a suggestion, why not make a trip down to the SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICES, really learn what your actual figures will be, I think that if you are well informed in advance of your retirement, the more satisfied you will be.

Then You will know just actually where you stand. Don't be disappointed, let me suggest that you do this well in advance, this is common sense business. The personnel at the SOCIAL SECURITY OFFICE will be glad to sit down with you in regard to all your problems. I am confident you will be happy to learn more about it also. I have heard many blame the Social Security, I for one knowing that you didn't realize just what your problems of yours was, let me suggest that you do go and stand at these offices. These people are there to help you they want to help you, above all have your records in order that will enable them to process your case much faster. Your Help is a Big Factor.

FISHERITIS

The food we eat.
The air we breathe.
And all we drink is "poison".
How we live from day to day
Is really quite surprising.
Malaria rages in the south,
The North, East and West.
Pneumonia strikes us down like grass,
And Typhoid does the rest.
But of all the microbes, great or small
That Nature's sent to fight us,
The worst that ever struck a man
Is the germ of "fisheritis".
When that disease gets a hold on you,
Your name is Dennis Mud.
For it won't stop its working
When it gets into your blood.
And when the thing gets chronic,
It simply can't be broke.
You've got to go and fish it out,
Or just lie down and croak.
So when its cured, it won't stay cured
Like any other sore.
So when the thing breaks out again,
You've got to fish some more.

OLD SAM

By: John Smedley

All the Taxi drivers on Cooks Street
Feed Old Sam the best of meat.
Old Sam came to the Alley about a year ago.
By now all the drivers he seems to know.
He lays on the corner, won't hardly raise his head,
And in passing, you'll think he's dead.
Now you can step on or over Sam,
All he will do is open one eye to see if you have him some ham.
At night when the phone rings and the drivers don't go,
Sam will bark everytime to let them know.
Now Sam isn't the kind that has nine lives,
But the drivers say Sam likes them better than their wives.
Now, Sam is white with big brown spots.
He walks very slowly, but he never trots. zx
Now folks, you've met Sam and my story must end,
So by now, you know Sam is Man's Best Friend.

Two East Ky. Highway Districts Are "Gold Star" Districts

Two eastern Kentucky highway districts are "gold star" districts according to officials of the Kentucky Better Roads Council, Lexington.

Only one county in the two districts has failed to come through with an endorsement of the $176 million bond issue to be on the November ballot. The Twelfth Highway District, with headquarters at Pikeville, has scored a clean sweep with every county represented with an endorsement from one or more organizations. The Eleventh District with headquarters at Manchester lacks but one county of tying the record of its neighbor.

A major share of the bond issue money, $139 million, goes for highway construction, including the Appalachian road development program.

In addition, the program also contains funds for job-training at new or expanded vocational schools as well as $17.1 million to expand or construct community colleges under the University of Kentucky. The same allocation also includes funds for capital construction at Eastern Kentucky State College as well as Morehead State College.

The breakdown of the program also earmarks money for the development of forestry facilities, community libraries and small lakes for industrial and recreational purposes.

The Twelfth Highway District includes Letcher, Pike,

Martin, Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd, and Knott Counties. Norman Chrisman of Pikeville is vice president of the Better Roads Council and Herman Wheeler of Paintsville is district governor.

The Eleventh Highway District includes Harlan, Leslie, Bell, Knox, Clay, Whitley, Laurel and Jackson Counties. Maurice Henry of Middlesboro is Council vice president and A. E. Funk, also of Middlesboro, is district governor.

Taylor Stidham, 62 Dies At ARH Hospital

Taylor Stidham, 62, of Hazard died Friday, July 2 at the Hazard Appalachian Hospital.

He is survived by his wife, Rhonda; two sons, William H. and Thomas E.; and two daughters, Mrs. Don Combs of Airport Gardens and Mrs. Cecil Peters of Kansas.

Five brothers, three sisters and six grandchildren also survive.

Funeral services were held Sunday, July 4, at 10 a.m. at the Engle Funeral Home Chapel with Reverends Bill Nichols and Linville Miller officiating.

Burial was in the Rest Haven Cemetery with the Engle Funeral Home in charge of arrangements.

70% Of Ky. Junkyards Screened

A year ago this July 1, the Kentucky Highway Department began enforcing the law requiring screening of junkyards. Since that time 70 per cent of the yards have been screened and 5 per cent of the owners have taken steps towards compliance.

Highway Commissioner Henry Ward in releasing the figures stated that 722 out of the state's 758 junkyards have submitted applications for permits. Permits are issued only after suitable screens have been erected.

The Highway Department issued 48 permits during June, bringing to 527 the total number now properly screened. The screening law, which was enacted by the 1962 General Assembly, requires junkyard dealers to build suitable screens around their yards if they are within 2,000 feet of the highway centerline or to move their business beyond this distance.

Ed Hancock, head of the Highway Department's Compliance Office, said, "Unless there is a very good reason for not doing so, indictments will be asked for before the next grand jury for any junkyard operator who does not have a permit."

Homecoming Time In The Mountains

It's homecomin' time in the mountains—
And I can't wait to see—
My many friends and relatives—
Who mean so much to me.

It was many a year ago—
I left my mountain home—
I guess I took a hankerin'
To see the world and roam.

I've traveled o'er this wide world
From California to the New York fair
But I've just got a yearnin'
To breathe some mountain air.

I want to pull my shoes off
And wiggle again my toes
And sit back in a big cane chair
And rock away my woes.

I long to see the setting sun
And hear the roosters crow
I'm homesick for the mountains
And I'm a-comin' back for shore.

I can just smell the bacon a-fryin'

And the coffee perking loud
Oh, to delve into some mountain cookin'
Would make this soul right proud.

I guess I'll founder on corn pone
And let the gravy run down my shirt
But as long as this feller's happy
I don't see how this could hurt.

At night I'll sit out on the porch
And smoke my old cob pipe
And listen to the bullfrogs croak
Now, ain't this jus' the life.

Why just sittin' here a-thinkin'
Of the many things I'll do
Makes this feller all a-quiver
Kentucky, I'm comin' home to you.

Ma, turn back the "kivers"
And put the pot on the stove,
This rovin' boy's a-headin' home
And darn right soon, by jove.
